

Sheer fabric brings softness to a black top and skinny jeans in CAMERON DIAZ's outfit.

KATHERINE HEIGL shows the perfect amount of leg in this romantic drapery strapless.

JENNIFER ESPOSITO's flesh-coloured undergarments allow her pretty top to take the spotlight.

MEGAN FOX manages to look sexy and demure all at once with a little sheer detail.

SHEER ELEGANCE

Less is more, with the revival of delicate, feminine fabrics. Sheer has been revamped since its '80s heyday and appears in an array of blouses, dresses, tights and tops. Its soft and romantic appeal means it should be worn to cover the body, not to expose it. Wear slips under dresses and tops to prevent underwear taking centre stage. Alternatively, dresses with sheer panelling are an elegant way to show just a glimpse of skin. Stick to silk, chiffon or lace to keep it fresh.
